Projects

Web based agriculture market

Developed a web-based platform to connect farmers directly with consumers, aiming to streamline the agricultural product supply chain and eliminate middlemen. The project included three key modules: Admin, Farmer, and User. Admin manages the approval process for farmers and their products, ensuring quality control. Farmers can register, manage, and sell their products after approval, while users can browse available products, place orders, and interact with the marketplace easily. The solution improved transparency, accessibility, and efficiency in agricultural trade.

Weather App

Created a comprehensive weather application that provides real-time weather updates and forecasts. The application allows users to search for current weather conditions in different locations and receive accurate, timely information. It features an intuitive user interface designed for ease of use and responsiveness across devices. The project focuses on delivering a seamless user experience with efficient handling of user requests, data processing, and dynamic display of weather information fetched from external sources.
